VOL. XXII., No. 19. NEW YORK, November 4, 1882. WHOLE No. 564.

WORKS BY DR. ROBERT YOUNG, EDINBURGH.

YOUNG'S GREAT CONCORDANCE.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED.

There is but one authorized and correct edition of Young's Concordance sold in America. Every copy of this edition has on the title-page the words "Authorized Edition," and at the bottom of the page the imprint

"NEW YORK: FUNK & WAGNALLS. EDINBURGH: GEORGE ADAM YOUNG & COMPANY."

All copies, no matter by whom sold, that have not these words printed on the title-page are printed on the bungling plates made by the late American Book Exchange.

Dr. YOUNG says: "This Unauthorized American edition is an outrage on the American public, and on me, containing gross errors."

REV. DR. JOHN HALL says:

"Dr. Robert Young's Analytical Concordance is worthy of the lifetime of labor he has spent upon it. I deeply regret that his natural and just expectation of some return from its sale on this side of the ocean is not realized; and I hope the sense of justice to a most painstaking author will lead to the choice by many purchasers of the edition which Dr. Young approves—that of Messrs. FUNK & WAGNALLS, with whom Dr. Young co-operates in bringing out here the best edition."

"NEW YORK.

JOHN HALL."

"Do not be deceived by misrepresentations. Insist that your jobber furnishes you the Authorized edition. Do not buy an inferior book because you get it a few cents cheaper."

Will Publish on Monday, November 15:

Letters of Lydia Maria Child.

With a Biographical Introduction by JOHN G. WHITTIER, and an Appendix by WENDELL PHILLIPS. 1 vol., 16mo, $1.50.

Mrs. Child was one of the most fresh and delightful of letter-writers, and in this volume are included many of her most interesting letters written during the half century from 1830 to 1880, touching upon almost every possible subject of political, literary, and social interest, and including allusions more or less full to many of the most famous persons of Mrs. Child's acquaintance. The interest of the volume is increased in no small degree by the sympathetic and admirable introduction furnished by Mr. Whittier, a life-long friend of Mrs. Child, and also by the contribution from Mr. Phillips, who was also one of her most cherished and intimate friends.

Oddities in Southern Life and Character.

Edited by HENRY WATTERSON, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal. With characteristic illustrations by W. L. SHEPPARD, the most eminent of Southern artists. 1 vol., 16mo.

Mr. Watterson gathers in this book the most interesting chapters from the works of those Southern writers who have been most successful in depicting characteristics of Southern life and habits. The book comprises extracts from Judge Longstreet's "Georgia Scenes," Hooper's "Simon Suggs," Baldwin's "Flush Times," Thompson's "Major Jones's Courtship," and the writings of Davy Crockett, J. Proctor Knott, Bill Arp, Uncle Remus, Sut Lovingood, etc.

Spare Hours. Third Series.

LOCKE AND SYDENHAM, AND OTHER PAPERS.

By Dr. JOHN BROWN, author of "Rab and his Friends," etc. 1 vol., 16mo, $1.50.

Shortly before his death, Dr. Brown issued a new edition of the three volumes comprising his sensible, thoughtful, and humorous essays. Portions of these have been published in this country in the two series of "Spare Hours." The remaining papers in these volumes are included in this third series of "Spare Hours," uniform in style and price with the preceding series. Some of the papers in this volume are among the ablest and most valuable that Dr. Brown ever wrote.

The Nature and Form of the American Government

FOUNDED IN THE CHRISTIAN RELIGION. By the Hon. GEORGE SHEA, Chief Justice of the Marine Court; author of "Life of Alexander Hamilton." 1 vol., 16mo.

An able and careful discussion of a question that greatly interests many of the best American citizens.

The Bhagavad-Gita.

Translated, with Introduction and Notes, by JOHN DAVIES. Vol. XXXI. in the Philosophical Library. 8vo, gilt tops.

A scholarly work, including, in addition to an admirable translation of this famous Sanskrit philosophical poem, a valuable introduction and full explanatory foot-notes.

Mr. Whipple's Works. New Edition.

A fine Library Edition of the complete works of EDWIN P. WHIPPLE, including Essays and Reviews (2 vols.), Literature and Life, The Literature of the Age of Elizabeth, Character and Characteristic Men, Success and its Conditions. 6 vols., 12mo, $1.50 each. The set, in box, $9.

These essays, which contain some of the keenest and wisest criticism in American literature are now issued in a new and very attractive style of binding.

WILL PUBLISH, NOVEMBER 16TH:

I.

The Beginnings of History.

According to the Bible and the Traditions of Oriental Peoples. From the Creation of Man to the Deluge. By FRANCIS LENORMANT, Professor of Archæology at the National Library of France, etc., etc. (Translated from the Second French Edition.) With an introduction by FRANCIS BROWN, Associate Professor in Biblical Philology, Union Theological Seminary. 1 vol., 12mo, 750 pp., $2.50.

"What should we see in the first chapters of Genesis?" writes M. Lenormant in his preface—"A revealed narrative, or a human tradition gathered up for preservation by inspired writers as the oldest memory of their race? This is the problem which I have been led to examine by comparing the narrative of the Bible with those which were current among the civilized peoples of most ancient origin by which Israel was surrounded, and from the midst of which it came." The book is not more erudite than it is absorbing in its interest. It has had an immense influence upon contemporary thought; has approached its task with an unusual mingling of the reverent and scientific spirit.

II.

Poems of American Patriotism.

Chosen by J. BRANDER MATTHEWS. 1 vol., 16mo, $2.

It will be a surprise to many who turn over the pages of this collection to find not only that almost every stirring event of our history has its poem, but that almost every one of our true poets has written—generally more than once—on patriotic themes. Those poems given here are arranged chronologically, in the order of the events they celebrate.

III.

Moravian Missions.

By Rev. A. C. THOMPSON, D.D. 1 vol., $2.

These lectures open with a history of the Moravians, both the ancient and the modern church, and an account of the life and labors of Count Zinzendorf. The author then proceeds to the special history of the Moravian Missions in the West Indies, in Central and South America, in Greenland, in Labrador, among the Indians, and elsewhere. It is the first thorough and comprehensive account of Moravian missions that has appeared in English.

IV.

A Complete Concordance

TO THE REVISED VERSION OF THE NEW TESTAMENT,

Embracing the Marginal Readings of the English Revisers, as well as those of the American Committee. By JOHN ALEXANDER THOMS. Published by consent of the Universities. 1 vol., 8vo, $2.50.

V.

The Acts of the Apostles.

By J. S. HOWSON, D.D., and Canon DONALD SPENCE. 1 vol., 12mo, with a Map, $1.25. Being Vol. V. of "The International Revision Commentary on the New Testament." By British and American Scholars and Revisers. Edited by Philip Schaff, D.D. (Matthew, Mark, and Luke already published.)

JUST PUBLISHED, NOV. 2.

VI.

The Great English Ballads.

THE BOYS PERCY. Edited with an introduction by SIDNEY LANIER. With 50 text and full-page illustrations by E. B. Bensell. 1 vol., 8vo, $2.50.

Mr. Lanier's books, which made him the companion and friend of half the boys of the country, and showed his remarkable talent for guiding them into the best parts of an ideal world, fitly closed by giving the best of the ballads in their purest and strongest form, from Bishop Percy's famous collection. With the "Boy's Froissart," the "Boy's King Arthur" the "Mabinogion," and the "Boy's Percy," Mr. Lanier's readers have the full circle of heroes.

VII.

A New Volume of

The Campaigns of the Civil War.

THE MISSISSIPPI. By F. V. GREENE, Lieutenant of Engineers, U. S. Army; late Military Attaché to the United States Legation at St. Petersburg; author of "The Russian Army and its Campaigns in Turkey in 1877-'78," and of "Army Life in Russia." 1 vol., 12mo, with maps and plans, $1.

An account of the operations especially at Vicksburg and Port Hudson—by which the Mississippi River and its shores were restored to the control of the Union.

VIII.

The Book of Forty Puddings.

By SUSAN ANNA BROWN. 1 vol. With attractive and appropriate binding, 50 cents.

A collection of original and selected receipts for a special department of the domestic cuisine that has been somewhat overlooked. The very attractive style of this little book and its low price—just one cent per pudding and ten cents for the sauces—will cause it to be widely circulated.

NOTES IN SEASON.

A. WILLIAMS & Co. issue this week Sally Pratt McLean's new novel, "Towhead, the Story of a Girl," which is reported as already in its fifth thousand, the advance orders having overrun 4000. They have also just ready Grace A. Oliver's "Study of Maria Edgeworth, with Notices of her Father and Friends."

GEO. H. ELLIS, of Boston, will publish at once the seventh edition of "The Duties of Women," by Frances Power Cobbe. The new edition will contain a new preface discussing the advantages offered by the Married Women's Property Act, recently passed by the British Parliament.

D. APPLETON & Co. have now ready Robert Hewin Brown's new volume on "Stellar Theology and Masonic Astronomy; or, The Origin and Meaning of Ancient and Modern Mysteries Explained." The volume contains a number of illustrations by the author, including diagram of the zodiac, and the summer and winter solstices, in colors.

A. D. F. RANDOLPH & Co. will publish on the 8th "The Life and Letters of Elizabeth Prentiss, author of "Stepping Heavenward," etc. The book will contain, in addition to the narrative, a copious selection from her correspondence, especially on topics relating to the Christian life, and interesting personal reminiscences. They will issue on the same day a new edition in attractive binding of Mrs. Prentiss' "Stepping Heavenward," "Home Greylock," "Aunt Jane's Hero," "Urbane," and "Pemaquid;" also an enlarged edition in new and attractive binding of the "Susy Books."

WM. R. JENKINS announces the following new veterinary books, "Bovine Medicine and Surgery," by J. W. Hill, produced after years of preparation, comprehensive in treatment and brilliant in illustration; "Animal Plagues," by Prof. Geo. Fleming, in effect a second volume upon the subject, but in reality complete and entirely disconnected from the first volume, issued in 1871; and a new and entirely revised edition of "Principles and Practice of Medicine," by W. Williams. The "Breeding and Management of Draught Horses," by R. S. Reynolds, and "Stable Management and Prevention of Disease in Army Horses in India," by J. J. Meyrich, are both new books of a topical character, interesting alike to horse-breeders and veterinarians.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have been obliged to delay the publication of Lenormant's "Beginnings of History," announced last week, until the 16th inst. On the same day they will issue

"Poems of American Patriotism," selected by J. Brander Matthews; "Moravian Missions," by Rev. Dr. A. C. Thompson, which includes a history of the Moravians, both the ancient and the modern churches, and an account of the life and labors of Count Zinzendorf; "A Complete Concordance to the Revised Version of the New Testament, embracing the marginal readings of the English Revisers, as well as those of the American Committee," by John A. Thoms; and "The Acts of the Apostles," by Dr. J. S. Howson and Canon Donald Spence, forming the fifth volume of the "International Revision Commentary on the New Testament."

R. WORTHINGTON announces that he has made arrangements with Gebbie & Co., by which he will become the publisher of "Livy's Legendary History of Rome," Suetonius' "Lives of the Twelve Cæsars," and Mrs. E. Lynn Linton's "Life of Joshua Davidson." As already noted in these columns, "The Legendary History of Rome" is translated by George Baker, and is illustrated with 160 engravings from antique statuary and historical paintings. A novel feature is the introduction of Macaulay's "Lays of Ancient Rome" in their appropriate places in the history. "The Lives of the Twelve Cæsars" is translated by Dr. Alex. Thomson, and is illustrated with 24 portraits from authentic antique statues and busts of the emperors and their contemporaries in the museums of Europe. Mr. Worthington also desires us to say that he does not intend, as was stated by us in our issue for October 21, to make "Great American Sculptures" one of his leading art-books of the season. This work, which was formerly sold by subscription only, will hereafter be supplied to the trade through him. He will have ready shortly a volume of "Modern Etchings of Celebrated Paintings," with descriptive text prepared by John W. Mollett, a well-known English art critic. The etchings are masterpieces of the art, and the volume will prove an acceptable gift to all who appreciate artistic work.

P. BLAKISTON, SON & Co. will publish immediately "A Practical Treatise on the Diseases of the Uterus, Ovaries, and Fallopian Tubes," by Prof. A. Courty, of Montpellier, translated from the third edition by his pupil, Agnes M'Laren, M.D., with a preface by J. Matthews Duncan, M.D. The celebrated authors and editors whose names appear as the makers of this work are a sufficient guarantee in themselves of the care taken in its preparation and the exhaustive character of the material prepared. The same publishers announce a change in the price stated in advance of publication for the volumes of the new Quiz series. Instead of $1.25, they will be $1 per volume. They also announce a series of technological hand-books, which is to comprise works containing practical information relating to the arts, manufactures, professions, and trades. The special intention in preparing these volumes is to meet the wants of those who do not care to purchase large encyclopædias, or who wish fuller information on any one subject than encyclopædias will afford. Each book will be complete in itself, embodying information on several collateral subjects, illustrations being introduced whenever they will be found of especial value. The books will be issued in handy form and at a low price. The first volume, now under way, will treat of the "Manufacture and Trade of the Alcohol Compounds."

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 35 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. "The ground covered by this first volume of the 'History of Central America' was traversed by Irving in his account of the adventures of the companions of Columbus. Mr. Bancroft, however, has had access to a multitude of documents which were unknown to the earlier historian, and has followed a method much more searching and precise than suited Irving's temperament. As a consequence we have a narrative which is practically new, abounding in picturesque detail, and presenting the tragical romance of discovery and conquest with a particularity and vividness it has never possessed in any previous record. Copious foot-notes supply references to authorities, besides adding a multitude of illustrative details. Longer notes at the ends of chapters describe and discuss the character of earlier writers, after the method followed so effectively by Prescott, and in these appendices Mr. Bancroft has assembled an imposing mass of valuable bibliographical information. Maps copied from ancient and little-known works are plentifully interspersed with the text. The story is well constructed, and in spite of the profusion of incidents it is clear, it is interesting, and it is animated."—New York Tribune.

Barnard, Edna A. Maple range: a frontier romance. Chic., H: A. Sumner & Co., 1882. 3-444 p. D. cl., $1.25.

A bright, vivacious story of Maple Range, a beautiful frontier town of Minnesota, some of whose original settlers are borne through the perils and vicissitudes of the war of the rebellion, while their homes are subjected to the fearful visitation of the Indians in the massacre of 1862.

Bartlett, G: B. New games for parlor and lawn; with a few old friends in a new dress. N. Y., Harper, 1882. 8+227 p. S. cl., $1.

Some of the most fascinating games described here are based upon a knowledge of grammar, natural history, drawing, geography and literature, while others require, and are therefore calculated to develop in the players, an extensive acquaintance with the English language, and considerable expertness and accuracy in its use. It would be impossible to enumerate them in our space, as there are over 60 varieties.

Bennett, Zelotes R. A young vagabond; with an introduction by E: Eggleston. N. Y., J. S. Ogilvie & Co., [1882]. 256 p. 2 il. S. cl., $1.

The story of a boy who is ruined almost by the severe treatment he receives from a stepmother; he is whipped so often that he begins to think it is no use in trying to be good; one day, as he is playing truant on the river shore, a little girl falls from a steamboat and he saves her life, which gives a new interest to him, and puts a new purpose in his efforts to reform; the story teaches manliness of spirit and action, without being too didactic.

Clark's form-book, containing legal and business forms, useful to the private citizen as well as to judges, attorneys, registers in chancery, clerks of courts, sheriffs, justices of the peace, notaries public, coroners, constables and other officials. Montgomery, Ala., Holt & Crawford, 1882. 460 p. O. shp., net, $3.

The object of this work is to furnish, in one volume of convenient size, a collection of the legal and business forms adapted to general use. Many of these forms have never appeared elsewhere; some are old forms, reconstructed to suit existing statutes; some have been gathered from the various courts and offices to which they apply, where they have stood the test of actual use; others are framed to suit certain requirements in legal practice for which no regular forms exist. The subjects to which the forms relate are arranged in alphabetical order; and a full index is added for reference to the forms themselves.

Clarkson, Miss L. Fly-away fairies and baby blossoms. N.Y., E. P. Dutton & Co., [1882]. no paging, il. Q. bds., $2.

Illustrated with 16 full-page pictures in colors, very beautifully designed and delicately printed; they represent fairies and apple-blossoms and interpret the text, which is a series of fairy stories in rhyme; printed only on one side of the leaf; the cover, also, of fairies and blossoms and birds and butterflies, is very beautiful. By the author of "Indian summer."

Cooke, Carrie Adelaide, ed. Blossoms by the way; a collection of choice poems; border designs by Sweeney. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co., [1882]. 3-736 p. il. sq. D. bds., $3.

The poems are mainly for children's reading, and the pictures are also such as please the little ones; there are 700 pages of text, each page being enclosed in a very pretty border designed by "Boz," the border being in different colors and composed of vines, flowers and delicate tendrils, producing an unique effect; the cover is decorated with wild pink roses.

Gage, Alfred P. A text-book on the elements of physics for high schools and academies. Bost., Ginn, Heath & Co., 1882. 11+414 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.

This treatise is based upon the doctrine of the conservation of energy, which is made prominent throughout the book. So far as practicable, the following plan is adopted: The pupil will only be expected to accept as true that which he has seen or learned by personal investigation; he will himself perform the larger portion of the experiments with simple and inexpensive apparatus, such as it will be in his power to construct with the aid of directions given in the book; the experiments given are rather of the nature of questions than of illustrations, and precede the statements of principles and laws; definitions and laws are not given until the pupil has acquired a knowledge of his subject sufficient to enable him to construct them for himself.

- A choice collection of pieces for the principal sacred and secular festivals of the year, New Year, Easter, Memorial Day, Fourth of July, Thanksgiving, Christmas, etc. Selected by the same editor, and produced with the same beauty of style which have made the "American birthday-book" so popular.
- Heine, H. The romantic school; tr. by S. L. Fleishman. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1882. 9 + 273 p. D. cl., $1.50.
- This work was originally written and published in France to make the French people acquainted with an important and interesting phase of German literature. Heine expended on it a wealth of illustration and detail; while it ostensibly deals with the romantic school, it does in fact briefly but graphically touch on nearly all German literature, from the Nibelungenlied down to about the date of its publication, 1833. The translator says: "It is, in fact, a review of German literature by one of the masters of that literature." It has long been considered a classic of its kind, and the Encyclopædia Britannica, in its article on Heine, pronounces it one of "the two works which seem his best and most characteristic writings."
- Hooker, Miss Fanny. ("Erniest Hoven.") Captive, yet conqueror: a tale of the first Christian century. N. Y., American Tract Soc., [1882]. 392 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.
- A well-written tale of the first Christian century, depicting the thrilling events that ended in the fall of Jerusalem, with many charming scenes of both Jewish and Roman home life.

L'Estrange, Rev. A. G., ed. Friendships of Mary Russell Mitford, as recorded in letters from her literary correspondents. N. Y., Harper, 1882. 6+460 p. D. cl., $2.

Miss Mitford, best remembered as the author of "Our village," seems to have had a genius for friendships; she counted many distinguished literary people among her correspondents; their letters, as presented here, are full of pleasant gossip, humorous anecdotes and a keen appreciation of herself; it would be difficult to enumerate all the people who contribute to this volume, but they number many of the most successful authors, artists and politicians of the first half of this century. Index.

Little pilgrim (A); reprinted from Macmillan's Magazine. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1882. 123 p. S. cl., 75 c.

When the two articles contained in this book—"In the unseen" and "The little pilgrim goes up higher"—were published in the magazine they attracted considerable attention, and were attributed to the pen of Mrs. Oliphant; they are poetical and ingenious descriptions of life in the spirit-land, written with a great deal of earnestness and real feeling.

Lothrop, Matthew H., ed. The poet and the children; carefully selected poems from the works of the best and most popular writers for children; il. with nearly 200 engravings from original designs by J. Wells Champney, Miss L. B. Humphrey, Jessie Curtis Shepherd, Walter Shirlaw, F. H. Lungren, G. F. Barnes and other distinguished artists. Bost., D. Lothrop & Co., [1882]. 12+242 p. sq. O. cl., $5.

This volume takes its title from the initial poem by John G. Whittier; it is a beautiful collection, beautifully illustrated; it contains 24 full page illustrations and other il. on almost every page woven in with the text; handsomely printed and bound.

Sears, Edmund Hamilton. That glorious song of old; il. by Alfred Fredericks; engraved under the supervision of G. T. Andrew. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1883 [1882]. no paging, sq. D. cl., $1.50.

Belongs to Lee & Shepard's well-known series of illustrated hymns and songs. The book is one of the most attractive of the season, and is almost faultless in letterpress, paper, illustrations and binding; all of the illustrations are by Fredericks, engraved by Andrew, and there are fifteen of them; as a presentation souvenir from one friend to another, or from a child to a parent, this book commends itself, and will doubtless be widely sought during the present season.

Secombe, Lieut.-Col. The good old story of Cinderella retold in rhyme; with 70 il. by the author, including 12 full-page plates printed in colors by Emrik and Binger. N. Y., A. C. Armstrong & Son, 1882. 48 p. sq. O. cl., $2.50.

The pretty story of Cinderella is here retold in rhyme in a manner that will charm the little ones, and illustrated in color in the finest style of color printing. It is one of Frederick Warne & Co.'s handsome publications, and is one of the most beautiful specimens of illustrations in color in the market.

Sheldon, G. W. Story of the volunteer fire department of the city of New York. N. Y., Harper, 1882. 10+575 p. il. sq. O. cl., $4.50.

A history of the measures adopted by the citizens of New York from the earliest times for the protection of life and property from the ravages of fire, of the men who have carried out these measures, of the organization of the department, of its laws and discipline, of the corporate habits and customs of its members, of their methods of work, of the instruments by means of which they prosecuted their fight with the flames, of the great fires of New York and daring deeds or tragic disasters of which they were the occasions, and of memorable events which have occurred in connection with the department, or in which its members have taken a conspicuous part. The illustrations, which include many portraits of eminent firemen, are numerous and characteristic, many of them having been made expressly for this work from relics of the Volunteer Fire Department lent by old firemen, or reproduced from rare prints representing great conflagrations, apparatuses and old localities in the city.

Smith, Heywood, M.D. Practical lessons in gynæcology: hand-book for physicians. Phil., P. Blakiston, Son & Co., 1882. 205 p. il. D. (Hand-books for physicians.) pap., 75 c.

Springfield illustrated. Springfield, Mass., James D. Gill, 1882. 2 p. text and 32 plates in portfolio, F. cl., $5; mor., $6.50.

"This series differs from all others that have been offered here in its intelligent purpose to present a selection of pictures that should give a really characterizing survey of our country-city; including a sufficient number of public and business buildings to convey the idea of a busy town, but laying the principal emphasis on absolute picturesqueness and the exceptional beauties of the city, rather than the brick and wood features, in which it resembles any other place of consequence. Mr. Gill has selected his subjects with excellent judgment, and has succeeded in fulfilling his most laudable purpose. This portfolio is such a gift as a citizen of Springfield would be glad to offer to his friends elsewhere, or to take with him as a souvenir should he remove."—Springfield Republican.

Thomson, And., D.D. In the Holy Land. N. Y., T: Nelson & Sons, 1882. 1+366 p. il. D. cl., $1.75.

A journey taken through the Holy Land in 1869; from the Pyramids to Joppa, thence to Jerusalem; many chapters are devoted to Jerusalem and its environs, Bethany, Bethlehem, down at the Dead Sea, Jacob's well, Sychar, the Elijah country, etc.

Thomson, W: M., D.D. The land and the book; or, biblical illustrations drawn from the manners and customs, the scenes and scenery of the Holy Land. [V. 2]: Central Palestine and Phœnicia. N. Y., Harper, 1882. 24+689 p. il. and maps, sq. O. cl., $6; shp., $7; hf. mor., $8.50.

The author has combined in this work the record of a personal examination of the country made during a series of wanderings in it, which extended through a period of forty years, with the results of a careful study of the most important authorities, ancient and modern. Starting from Jerusalem, he traverses Samaria, Galilee and Phœnicia, describing, in an exceedingly graphic and realistic manner, the numerous localities through which he passes, unfolding the historical and traditional associations which are entwined around them, and giving a minute account of the customs, manners, occupations, dress, dwellings and habits of thought and speech of the inhabitants. Its great value as a biblical commentary is apparent from the fact that while it throws a flood of light upon the Scriptures as a whole, furnishing a key to the true meaning of its figurative and poetic language, there are more than eight hundred separate passages which receive specific explanation. A very handsomely printed work, fully illustrated.

Thorpe, Rosa Hartwick. Curfew must not ring to-night. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1883 [1882]. no paging, il. sq. D. cl., $1.50.

This touching ballad especially lends itself to illustration, and full justice has been done to it by the artists, Messrs. F. F. Merrill and E. H. Garrett, who have contributed over 22 illustrations, many of them being full-page; these have been engraved by Andrew, and the book is published uniform with Lee & Shepard's series of illustrated ballads; on fine paper, heavily laid, and in almost perfect style of printing. We should add that a new stanza is added by the author to the poem, as given in this volume.

The second of the series of "German philosophical classics for English readers and students," edited by Prof. Geo. S. Morris; Prof. Watson states here, in a manner not too diffuse to weary even the inexperienced student or the general reader, the heads of Schelling's philosophy and the three phases which that master himself exhibits in his development as a mere student or disciple of Fichte into a master of the transcendental idealistic school.

Williams, W: R. Eras and characters of history. N. Y., Harper, 1882. 3+286 p. D. cl., $1.50.

Studies of the following subjects: Nero and Paul; The Emperor Titus and the Apostle John; Monasticism; Augustine and Chrysostom; Buddhism; Wycliffe, Savonarola, and Huss; Mohammedanism; The Crusades; Luther and his times; John Calvin; John Knox; The Puritan and mystic. The main idea running through the book is that those who prophesy the ultimate overthrow of Christianity will be disappointed.

The Publishers' Weekly.

NOVEMBER 4, 1882.

The orders for the imprint editions of the Christmas issues of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY and the Literary News are coming in rapidly, and with them renewed and urgent requests to have the issues ready in good time for circulation. Publishers of Holiday Books should bear in mind that an early issue of the Christmas number of the WEEKLY and an early distribution of the imprint editions will secure early orders. An early issue must depend on prompt supply of material. The make-up of the Christmas issue requiring unusual care and much experimental work, those who will give us proper time will have the advantage of superior display and workmanship. Early copies or sheets of illustrated books should be sent without delay. We are already at work, and where every day tells, nothing should be postponed until to-morrow that can be done to-day.

BOOKSELLERS who, in preference, or in addition to the special Christmas catalogues, desire to place into the hands of their customers a handy guide to the standard works of general literature, can scarcely do better than to use as an enclosure list the cheap edition of "Books of All Time." The deficiency of the compilation in certain branches, such as history, biography, etc. (which have been reserved for a special section, now preparing by Prof. C. K. Adams), has, for purchasing purposes, been sufficiently covered by a Supplement. This, under the title "Brief Purchase-list of Books for the Library," not only includes the standard works of history, biography, etc., but forms in itself a picked list of the best books in all branches of literature (exclusive only of science proper, professional and technical works), with the prices revised for the season 1882-83. This list is so representative, indeed, that it can be used to advantage as an order-list for the replenishing of stock as well as for a ready reference-list. Every salesman should, during the busy season, keep some copies in his pocket, not only for the accommodation of bookbuyers, but for his own working purposes. A compact subject-index, following the alphabetical list by authors, will aid him particularly in the answering of the daily questions. There is also an annotated list of the most prominent reading guides and literary journals—the true makers of bookbuyers—a fact which some booksellers do not yet seem properly to appreciate. The placing of a good catalogue, or the obtaining of a subscription to a good literary journal, often proves far more profitable than the sale of the costliest edition of one individual work. A good guide through literature is the ever-active home agent of the bookseller.

CLARK RUSSELL'S STATEMENT EXPLAINED.

THE following paragraph, telegraphed to the Tribune, appeared in its issue for Oct. 29:

"The Athenæum revives the copyright question, publishing a letter from Clark Russell, quoting Vast's statement that the Harpers have sold immense editions of Russell's sea stories, but Russell says: 'I have never, as I live to swear it, received one single farthing from America; have never been honored by so much as a thank-you.' Yet The Athenæum insists that American publishers are most anxious for international copyright, and asserts that the pressure from the Typographical Union prevents the State Department from submitting a treaty to the Senate."

The following card from Messrs. Harper & Bros. appeared in the Tribune Oct. 31:

"To the Editor of the Tribune :

"SIR: The telegraphed statement of Mr. Clark Russell, published in the Tribune of October 29, to the effect that he 'had never received one single farthing from America,' admits of a simple explanation.

"We follow one of two courses in paying for English works which we reprint. If we receive advance sheets from the author, we deal directly with the author, to whom we remit the sum agreed upon. On the other hand, if we receive advance sheets from the London publisher, we deal directly with him. In the case of Mr. Clark Russell, we have in every instance received the advance sheets of his works from his London publishers, to whom we have remitted the honorarium agreed upon for each.

"In reply to a letter from Mr. Russell, dated October 14, 1880, we wrote him, on the 30th of the same month, that we had paid for his stories already published by us. Mr. Russell made no objection at that time, nor when subsequent negotiations were pending regarding his later works. We have just concluded arrangements for simultaneous publication in America of his forthcoming novel, 'A Sea Queen,' in serial and book form, paying for the same the price asked.

HARPER & BROTHERS.

"Franklin Square, New York, Oct. 30."

AMERICAN MAGAZINE ILLUSTRATION.

THE following extracts from the London journals reflect more credit on American than on English publishing enterprise. In an article treating of what it calls the British "pig-headed obstinacy for running in grooves," The London Globe says: "Up to the date of the naturalization of the two American magazines, Scribner's and Harper's, the woodcuts in English magazines were simply ludicrous. We had got into a groove of illustration, and the public, faute de mieux, were forced to be contented with it, but when the above-named American magazines appeared, and the public saw what could be got at the same price, there was an outcry, and consequent reform in the right direction is everywhere apparent." Mr. Smalley, in his correspondence to the Tribune, referring to the fact that Longman's Magazine is not to be illustrated, quotes: "When will London have a high-class illustrated monthly?" cries The Morning Post, and adds: "There are several already which contain two or three illustrations; but there is surely an opening for a magazine on the model of those brought out by American firms in which the excellent wood engravings are of equal importance with the text, and add immensely to the value of the publications." And The Standard from the same text remarks: "Thirty years ago the average transatlantic magazine was a dull 25 cents' worth of poorly written, atrociously illustrated stuff. To-day the two budgets of brightly penned papers which are found on every railway bookstall will bear comparison with anything of the same nature that we can show; while the exquisite woodcuts and 'process' illustrations which adorn their pages have driven the proprietors of English magazines to despair—or, what is better, into a determination to equal if not to surpass them." And Mr. Smalley adds: "The particular English publisher who has determined to issue an illustrated magazine which shall equal if not surpass The Century and Harper's is not named. Perhaps it would be difficult to name him. Meanwhile the two Americans have gained a foothold (as well as a reputation) from which they will not easily be driven."

TRIBUTE TO A CHICAGO PUBLISHER.

THE Chicago Tribune reprints from the Boston Index the following "creditable showing of what a Chicago publisher is doing for Western literature":

"It is no discredit to this country that the works of Mark Twain, our great humorist, are widely read; but to show the justness of Mr. Towne's reply to Matthew Arnold on American Culture, which we printed recently, we submit the following facts: When Chicago was burned down, there had stood side by side, and there fell together into smoking ruin, three of the largest book-stores in the world—double stores of great depth, five stories high, with basement for receiving and packing and for storage. The middle one of the three was an old and solid concern, with an immense trade, built up and managed by Mr. S. C. Griggs, one of the pioneers and marked men of Chicago enterprise. At the time of the great destruction by fire, younger men had come in and had become a part of the prosperity of the house; and, to these Mr. Griggs gave up the bookselling business under the new name of Jansen, McClurg & Co., while he established a purely publishing interest under the old name of S. C. Griggs & Co. The development of this interest is a striking feature in the progress of that vast Northwest to which Chicago is a metropolitan mart."

This is followed by a full account of the many publications of this enterprising publishing house.

AN OLD-TIME BOOKSELLER.

AND now for a refreshing change, "look upon this picture." We found it in the London Book-seller, and that worthy "representative," always on the lookout for good examples, found it in the People's Journal:

"The late Mr. George Shepherd had a career in Aberdeen as a bookseller that deserves more notice than was taken of it at his death, which occurred recently. The truth is, the deceased genial bibliopole so entirely outlived most of his contemporaries, that now, when he has gone from among us, there are but few left who knew him so intimately as to be able to place on record his many gifts and graces. It is often said that a bookseller's shop-window is a place at which the poor who cannot buy may study literature and art free. Many of us enjoyed that privilege in our early youth to our heart's content at the window of the late Mr. Shepherd. To those of us who loved pictorial teaching, and in boyhood had but little opportunity of getting it, the fine, well-trimmed window at the foot of Broad street, just situated about where the electric clock is now, forty years ago drew groups of Aberdeen boys daily round about it. What a study it is to contrast the cheap pictures of that time with the present! The most rubbishy-colored pictures then cost sixpence. Now, productions infinitely better finished than they were, can be had for a halfpenny. No matter, Mr. George Shepherd made the best of things as they existed in his day, and there, at the Broad-street window, you had well-arranged strings of natural-history pictures; and invariably, set in an attractive position, was to be seen a Seventy-ninth Highlander in full regimentals. How the youngsters did gaze and admire! The inside of the shop in every way matched the window—methodical, trim, and clean to the utmost nicety. Daily standing just inside his door, and frequently outside his counter, Mr. Shepherd's happy, intelligent countenance might have been seen engaged in conversation on the topics of the day with some of the town's leading worthies. Booksellers of that time were booksellers and book-readers too, and their places of business were the literary and scientific clubs of the period. Such was Mr. Shepherd's shop. It is true he did not amass a fortune in it; but he did more good than is often achieved by a dozen fortunes, by stimulating young folks to self-culture, and by encouraging his fellow-citizens to take a wise interest in matters of every-day importance. Mr. Shepherd had a perfect fund of anecdote and old-fashioned stories which he could apply aptly. The whole history of Aberdeen bookselling from the beginning of this century was at his fingers' ends, and it was a treat of no ordinary kind to spend an evening with him along with the late Bailie Lewis Smith and the late Mr. William Russell. Alas! how have the mighty fallen! Booksellers of our day have descended into a batch of hucksterers, chiefly noticeable by their vending wares at threepence off the shilling. Oh, for the good old days of the late Mr. George Shepherd and his compeers!"

MEMOIR OF DANIEL MACMILLAN.

To the Editor of the London Book-seller:

SIR: I have had so much pleasure in the reading of the "Memoir of Daniel Macmillan," that I have set aside two copies for lending to those booksellers' assistants who have not otherwise an opportunity of obtaining a reading of the life of this admirable man; and I shall be glad if you can make this known by the insertion of this letter.

We cannot all be Macmillans, but we can all be the better for learning something of the noble spirit which Daniel Macmillan sought to infuse into his business as a retail bookseller.

Yours truly, DAVID STOTT.

370 Oxford Street, 15th Aug., 1882.

T. J. BROWN, EAGER & CO.

T. J. BROWN, EAGER & CO., the well-known and enterprising booksellers of Toledo, formally opened on the 22d ult. their new and enlarged salesroom at 197 and 199 Summit St. The occasion called out an interesting bit of Western trade history, which we condense from the Toledo Bell.

In July, 1858, Theodore J. Brown and George W. Baldwin, formed the firm of Brown & Baldwin, and opened what was known as a "News Depot," for the sale of newspapers, periodicals, and stationery—the first establishment of the kind in Toledo. There was enough that was peculiar about the partnership agreement of this firm to justify its reproduction here, as follows:

"TOLEDO, O., July 1, 1858.

"Theodore J. Brown and George W. Baldwin have entered into a partnership in the news, book, and stationery business—each one contributing in cash or goods an equal amount. And it is agreed that the former (T. J. B.) shall, in consideration that he personally superintend the store (191 Summit Street, Toledo), be allowed four dollars ($4) per week as a recompense; both agreeing to do everything to the best of their ability for the benefit and promotion of the firm, and to enter into no speculation whatever, without the consent of the other."

Their stock and cash capital amounted to $81.52. The first week's trade amounted to $4.75; the second, $16.36; the third, $15.56; and the fourth, $18.54—total for July $55.31. August did better, being $113.37. The total for the first six months was $711.66.

A few weeks after their settlement on Summit St. the owner of the building had become so strongly impressed with the success of the establishment, that he demanded an advance in rent, which the firm could not afford to pay; they therefore bought a frame building, about 16x16, then standing on Water St., for which they paid $25 in instalments. This they removed to the spot on which White's Hall was built in 1860-61.

In 1860 Mr. Brown removed his building to a place a few feet east of the original location. His business here outgrowing his accommodations, he took more ample and attractive quarters at 213 Summit Street, occupying one half of the room. Here he remained until 1863, when a third removal took place—this time to 167 Summit Street. Remaining here until 1869, Mr. Brown purchased the store, 165 Summit Street, which afterward was enlarged and improved by the addition of two stories and the provision of a basement.

Meantime the firm had built up a large and prosperous wholesale trade. So greatly had the trade of the house extended, that even these supposed ample quarters became insufficient to meet existing demands, and to provide for a rapid increase in trade, more adequate accommodations were sought, and they therefore erected a large and elegant building, 40x114 feet, adjoining their new block, 193 and 195 Summit Street, which happens to be the identical spot to which Mr. Brown removed the little frame structure in 1860.

From the first the business of the establishment had a growth of rare healthfulness and uniformity, as the following statement of sales for the periods named will show: 1858 (6 months), $711.66; 1860, $6436.09; 1865, $36,556.26; 1870, $69,881.72; 1875, $117,810.49; 1880, $183,061.40. The business of 1882 promises an equal increase.

As "managing partner," Mr. Brown was able to perform the entire work of the establishment until October, 1858, when assistance was found necessary, and a boy was engaged at $4 per month. In October, 1860, Mr. Baldwin, who remained at Mansfield, disposed of his interest to Mr. J. F. Patton, who remained until November, 1861, at which time Mr. Brown became sole proprietor. Ten years later (1871) Mr. George B. Hull, who had been with him since 1861, as salesman, was in 1871 admitted as a partner and yet remains such. In 1873, Mr. William H. Eager, of the then late book firm of S. Bailey & Eager, entered the firm, which then took the name, T. J. Brown, Eager & Co., as it yet remains. To the efficient and devoted support of these partners is largely due the extraordinary growth of the house's trade during the past ten years, in which time this has more than quadrupled.

COMMUNICATIONS.

THE OLD SCHOOL-BOOK GRIEVANCE.

NEW YORK, Oct. 24, 1882.

To the Editor of the Publishers' Weekly:

SIR: I wish to enter my protest against those publishers who are selling to teachers at the same discounts they give the bookseller. They have the right to do so, of course. But when they catalogue their books at a "wholesale price" or "net trade-list," from which the bookseller gets a small discount, is it consistent for them to sell to an outsider at less than their "wholesale" or "net trade" rate? Booksellers must keep school-books and must supply schools or school-teachers; and they cannot sell their books at the same price they buy them at. Yet that is exactly what the publishers are forcing them to do. And for what reason? Does the publisher sell anymore of his books by so doing? Not one. The teacher will get the books he wants, and a small deduction will not induce him to take a book he does not want. The publisher then simply steps between the bookseller and his customer, does not benefit himself, and yet succeeds in injuring the bookseller very thoroughly. I carry a very large stock of school-books, and I carry them to sell to teachers at a very small profit, yet, though the publishers are all anxious for me to buy their books, they evidently imagine that I buy them either to give away or to amuse myself by having a large collection. Else why do they undersell to outsiders their own "wholesale" and "net trade" prices?

Respectfully,

WILLIAM R. JENKINS.

CUES TO TIMELY TOPICS.

DANIEL WEBSTER is the leading topic in Foster's Monthly Reference Lists for October.

FRENCH LITERATURE.—Saintsbury, in his "Short History of French Literature," just published by the Macmillans, gives a number of bibliographical notes indicating the more important editions of prominent French authors.

CHRONOGRAMS.—A bibliography of the subject is appended to "Chronograms: 5000 and more in Number, Excerpted out of Various Authors and Collected at Many Places; by James Hilton," London, Elliot Stock, 1882. 4to, price £2 2s.

ICELAND LITERATURE.—No. 3 of the Library of Cornell University gives the first part of a bibliographical list of the "Living Authors of Iceland." The latter was compiled three years ago by Mr. Bogi Melsted, a student of the Icelandic College at Reykiavik, and Professor Fiske has at no little pains enlarged it to date.

ENGLISH POETRY.—Baldwin's "Introduction to the Study of English Literature and Literary Criticism," of which the first volume has just been published by John E. Potter & Co., has lists of references appended to each chapter, directing the student to the best works relating to the subjects discussed. It also contains a large number of quotations from the leading English critics, which are made quite accessible by a special index of criticisms.

CLASSIFICATION OF BOOKS.—The literature on this subject has lately received several contributions in the papers read at the Cincinnati Conference of Librarians (published in the Library Journal for July-Aug.), and in the following two separate volumes (published in uniform shape with Dui's "Classification"): "On the Classification of Books," by Lloyd P. Smith, and a revised edition of "A Rational Classification of Literature for Shelving and Cataloguing Books," by Fred B. Perkins.

BOOKS FOR THE YOUNG.—Miss Hewins, in the current number of her Hartford Library Association Bulletin, gives a list of works on English and American history for children. This list is to form part of Miss Hewins' "Books for the Young," a guide for parents and teachers, which shortly will be issued by the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY office. Miss Hewins' interesting "Yearly Report on Boys' and Girls' Reading," read at the Cincinnati Conference of Librarians, was published in the Library Journal for July-Aug.

AIDS AND GUIDES FOR READERS.—By sheer oversight was omitted the earlier mention of one of the most important "cues," given under the above heading, by Mr. S. S. Green, Librarian of the Worcester Free Public Library, in his admirable "yearly report," prepared by request of the American Library Association, and printed in the Library Journal for July-Aug. This will shortly be issued in pamphlet-form, together with Mr. Green's valuable paper on "Library Aids," revised to date. The latter was reprinted last year by the Bureau of Education in Washington, for the purpose of answering the many inquiries addressed to that office as to the sources of information respecting the establishment and conduct of libraries.

NEW TESTAMENT LITERATURE.—In its notice of Schaff's new edition of "The History of the Christian Church," the S. S. Times says: "The discussion of the New Testament literature, and the chronicling of all important recent theories in this field, are marked by clearness and conciseness; and one of the most valuable features of the work is the carefully selected lists of the most important English and German books on the topics discussed. These lists embrace all the chief works published up to the middle of the present year, with the mention, in some instances, of books now in course of preparation by noted scholars. The accuracy and fulness of these lists, which, like other parts of the work, have been revised by Professor Ezra Abbot, of Cambridge, render them a safe guide to the New Testament literature of to-day."

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

A. D. F. RANDOLPH & Co. announce a "John Bunyan Birthday-book."

"THE War of the Bachelors" is not, as was stated in the WEEKLY, "the third book," but "the third novel," entirely written, printed, bound, and published in New Orleans since the war.

T. WHITTAKER will issue this month: "One Year at St. Margaret's; or, Grace Dabney's Experiment;" "Thoughts on Great Mysteries," selected from the writings of Frederick Wm. Faber, D.D.; and "The Characteristics of True Devotion," by the author of "Hidden Life of the Soul."

R. G. HUTCHINSON, No. 44 Maiden Lane, N. Y., publishes an index for a small private library of say 2000 works. It is a bound volume, crown 4to, of 240 pages, with ruled spaces for title, author, particulars of publication, size, binding, etc. It is available for either author or title-indexing, but not for both.

THE LEONARD SCOTT PUBLISHING CO. call attention to the fact that the price of the four English quarterlies—the London, Edinburgh, Westminster and British—has been reduced to $2.50 each, and that the price of Blackwood's has been reduced to $3. All five may be had for $10 a year, or the four quarterlies for $8.

LALOR's "Cyclopædia of Political Science, Political Economy, and of the Political History of the United States," we understand, will hereafter be published by Melbert B. Cary & Co., Chicago. The second volume, which is to appear in December, will, like the preceding one, be manufactured by Rand, McNally & Co.

JAMES D. GILL, Springfield, Mass., has just published "Springfield Illustrated," a portfolio of views of Springfield, taken in and around the city. There are thirty-two views, produced by the photolithotype process, all in the best style of the art, making an acceptable souvenir of this interesting country-city. Mr. Gill will also publish "Great Barrington Illustrated."

JANSEN, McCLURG & Co. have just ready "The Theories of Darwin," translated from the German of Rudolph Schmid by G. A. Zimmermann, and treating of the relation of Darwinism to philosophy, religion, and morals; "The Nonpareil Practical Cook-book," by Mrs. E. A. M., containing many new receipts, American and foreign; "Practical Hints on Camping," by Howard Henderson; and "Frontier Army Life," by James W. Steele.

THE MINING INDUSTRIAL PUBLISHING BUREAU, Philadelphia, have just published a large quarto volume on "The Mines, Miners, and Mining Interests of the United States in 1882." This is a valuable work of reference, and furnishes a complete hand-book on this exceedingly important branch of our national interest. It is divided into eleven parts, each of which treats of a separate branch of the subject. It has an exhaustive index.

THE PRESBYTERIAN BOARD OF PUBLICATION have ready a new book by the author of "Week-day Religion," Rev. J. R. Miller, D.D., entitled "Home Making." The Doctor addresses the makers of the home, husband, wife, brother, son, etc., in words of wisdom clothed in grace. They are about to issue a new Sunday-school paper, The Morning Star, which they will make a good and inexpensive aid in Sunday-school work. Their latest book, "Half-hours with the Lessons," is having a large sale.

D. LOTHROP & CO. have now ready "Blossoms by the Way," a collection of choice poems, fully illustrated, and with borders in color, designed by Sweeney; also "Wedding-Day Book," edited by Catherine Lee Bates, with original illustrations by George F. Barnes. They have in press: "Out and About; or, The Hudsons' Trip to the Pacific," by Kate Tannatt Woods, a delightful mingling of adventure, travel, and realistic sketches, with more than two hundred authentic pictures; and "Young Folks' History of Mexico," by Fred. A. Ober, fully illustrated.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT & CO. announce a new novel by that charming writer of fiction, Mrs. Forrester, entitled "I Have Lived a Love," and also a new drama, "Elfrida," by Dyson Richell. One of the most notable books this house will issue will be that by J. A. Macomb, entitled "Uncle Gabe Tucker." This comprises a series of stories in negro dialect of a humorous character. Many of these stories have been published in the Century Magazine, to which the author has been a contributor in this specialty for over four years. Much new matter will be included that has not yet been in print, and the whole will be grouped under the following headings: Uncle Gabe's Reflections, Cabin Rhymes, Uncle Gabe's Songs, Aphorisms from the Quakers, Stories, and Appendix. One of the most striking novels of the season will be "The Colonel's Daughter; or, Winning his Spurs." It has been appearing in the United Service Gazette, and has attracted a great deal of notice by the ability with which it is written, and of the stirring scenes which it brings before the reader. The plot is laid in the Western States, and the author is Captain Charles King, of the United States Army. "A Notable Name; or, Dönningshausen," will be Mrs. Wister's new translation from the German of Clare Von Glumer. "In Sancho Panza's Pit," a novel, by Mrs. B. Sim Cunningham, and the "Subjection of Hamlet," by Wm. Leighton, in which the author decides "once and for all" the oft-mooted question of Hamlet's mental condition by declaring him insane, complete the announcements for the present.

GRIFFITH & FARRAN, London, have in press a volume entitled "A Scamper Through America in 1882," by T. S. Hudson, a shipowner of West Hartlepool.

"NOTWITHSTANDING the additional number printed of Canon Farrar's 'The Early Days of Christianity,'" the Academy says, "the entire supply prepared has proved inadequate to meet the demands of the trade, and the work is consequently again being reprinted."

In addition to the volumes in Messrs. Trübner's collection of "Simplified Grammars," already announced, Mr. J. W. Redhouse has undertaken Turkish, Dr. Parker Malagasy, Mr. H. Genner Cymric and Gaelic, M. Torceanu, of Bucharest, Roumanian, and Prof. Otto Donner, of Helsingfors, Finnish.

W. FRIEDRICH, of Leipzig, announces a series of handbooks dealing with the literature of the world. Three instalments will be issued very shortly: "French Literature," from the earliest times to the present day, by Eduard Engel; "Polish Literature," by Heinrich Nitschmann; and "Italian Literature," by C. M. Sauer. The English, Hungarian, and Spanish sections are in preparation.

"NOTHING is so dangerous," says the London Academy, "as an obituary notice. The Revue politique et littéraire for September writes, 'Mort en Angleterre du docteur Puisey, fondateur de la secte protestante qui port son nom.' And the New York Nation for September 14--usually so impeccable--reports the death of Earl Grey, instead of Sir George Grey, and condenses an account of him from 'Men of the Time.'"

A. ARTHUR READE, who proposed to men of letters and science a series of interrogatories touching their practice in the matter of alcohol and tobacco, now proposes to publish, with Messrs. Heywood, of Manchester, the replies he has received, which include letters from the late Charles Darwin, Dr. Carpenter, Prof. Blackie, Dr. Alexander Bain, Messrs. E. A. Freeman, Anthony Trollope, Wilkie Collins, and others.

AN English north country paper frowns upon the known ambition of the mayor of its town to be made a knight for his distinguished services in receiving royalty, and narrates, for the benefit of the aspirant, this anecdote: "When Mr. Adam Black, the Edinburgh publisher, was sounded on the subject of receiving knighthood, he said: 'Nae, nae; it wana dee. You see,' he added, 'if a boy cam into ma shop and said 'a ha'peth o' slate pencil, Sir Adam,' it wadna soond weel.'"

MR. HENRY STEVENS, in his paper on the novel question, "Who Spoils our English Books?" read at the Cambridge Conference of Librarians, traced the progress of a book from the study to the circulating library, and laid the blame of all the badly written and badly printed productions on nine persons, beginning with the author, and ending with the consumer. Old paper, bad ink, bad setting up in type, and bad binding were assigned by him as four of the chief causes of the wretched appearance of the books of the present time.

"DR. SANDERS'S supplement to his great 'Wörterbuch der Deutschen Sprache,'" says the Athenæum, "is rapidly approaching completion. Only a few parts more have to appear, and Germany will possess, for the first time, a dictionary which for excellence and practical usefulness will hold its own even when the gigantic 'Wörterbuch' founded by the brothers Grimm is completed. The same author's 'Wörterbuch der Hauptschwierigkeiten der Deutschen Sprache,' which ought to be in the hands of every advanced student of German, has just appeared in a thirteenth enlarged edition."

RICHARD BENTLEY & SON'S announcements include "Notes upon Some of Shakespeare's Plays," by Mrs. Fanny Kemble; a new book by Lady Jackson, to be entitled "The Court of the Tuileries, of the Restoration, and of Louis Philippe;" "Personal Reminiscences of Lord Stratford de Redcliffe and of the Crimean War," by the author of "Frontier Lands of the Christian and the Turk;" and the sixth and concluding volume of Dr. Evelyn Abbott's translation of Duncker's "History of Antiquity," containing the rise of the Persian empire. This last will be immediately followed by the first two volumes of Duncker's "History of Greece," translated by S. F. Alleyne.

POPULAR BOOKS.

NEW EDITION, JUST READY:

SIXTY-FIFTH THOUSAND.

Bartlett's Familiar Quotations.

Eighth edition, greatly enlarged. 12mo, cloth, $3; half calf, $5; morocco, $6.50; tree calf, $7.50.

This edition has been entirely recast from new type. It contains quotations from one hundred and twenty-five authors who are not represented in any former edition, and more than six thousand lines have been added to the Index.

From O. W. Holmes,

"Most valuable, convenient, indispensable, and altogether admirable collection of quotations."

Bartlett's Shakespeare Phrase-Book.

In the same style as "Familiar Quotations." 12mo, 1038 pages, cloth, $3; half calf, $5; calf, $6; morocco, $6.50; tree calf, $7.50.

From the Century.

"A grand combination-concordance-and-glossary to Shakespeare. . . . The book, as a whole, is one of the most valuable ever published for the use of intelligent students of Shakespeare. The general reader needs no ampler concordance, no better guide to Shakespeare's beauties of phrase or even of thought, no completer record of the variations of the text."

From the Nation.

"It only remains to praise the punctiliousness of the typography and the general tastefulness of the book, which is of a very handy size, and will soon be found on every shelf."

Parkman's Works.

Popular edition. 8 vols., 12mo, in a very attractive style of cloth, $12; half calf, $24.

This new edition of Francis Parkman's fascinating histories is printed from the same large type as the octavo edition. It can be supplied only in sets, volumes of the octavo edition only being furnished separately. This set includes:

"The Conspiracy of Pontiac," 2 vols.; "The Oregon Trail," 1 vol.; "France and England in North America," 5 vols. Comprising:

I. Pioneers of France in the New World; II. The Jesuits in North America; III. La Salle and the Discovery of the Great West; IV. The Old Régime in Canada; V. Count Frontenac and New France.

Plutarch's Lives.

Clough's translation. With a Life of Plutarch. In three 8vo volumes, containing nearly 2500 pages, with the same large type as that of the edition in five volumes. Handsomely bound in cloth, and put up in a box. Price $6; half calf, $12.

Uniform with the above.

Plutarch's Essays.

With a Preface by the Rev. Andrew P. Peabody, and Introduction by Ralph Waldo Emerson. Cloth, $3; half calf, $5.

Plutarch's Lives.

Clough's translation. Complete in one volume, large 8vo, cloth, $3; half calf, $5.

The Five-Volume Plutarch.

Plutarch's Lives.

Clough's translation. The best edition, handsomely printed in large type. 5 vols., 8vo, cloth, $10; half calf, $20. This edition has been for some time out of print. Uniform with the same, and at similar prices, Plutarch's Morals. 5 vols.

Shakespeare's Works.

Edited by Richard Grant White. 12 vols., 16mo, cloth, $15; half calf, $33.

ISSUED BY

[ALL ENTERPRISING BOOKSELLERS.]

The Trade edition ILLUSTRATED CHRISTMAS NUMBER of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY will be issued during the latter part of November, to give time for the imprint editions to reach all dealers not later than the first week in December.

The Number will as usual present the finest specimen illustrations from the NEW HOLIDAY BOOKS, with special articles on the leading works, a full descriptive summary of books and stationery novelties, reference price-lists covering the ILLUSTRATED WORKS, BOOKS FOR THE YOUNG, and other CHOICE BOOKS published during 1882, etc., etc. Every endeavor will be made to surpass the issues of previous years, pronounced by the German "Book Trade Magazine" the most attractive publication of the kind issued in the book-producing countries.

The imprint edition (intended for distribution by dealers with their sole imprint) will be printed immediately after the issue of the Trade edition, under the title of "CHRISTMAS CATALOGUE," as given above.

The local bookseller can add half as much again to his holiday trade by properly calling the attention of the public to his goods. For this purpose, the best means is the circulation of this handsome, interesting, and comprehensive CHRISTMAS CATALOGUE, which is received with pleasure by those to whom it is given or sent, as itself a picture-book of no little value; and its descriptions of, and illustrations from books, at once arouse the desire to purchase the books themselves.

No better investment can be made by the bookseller who wants to make the most of his holiday trade.

Orders filled in the order of size of edition, largest first, and then of receipt. As the paper is specially made for this issue, orders should be received at once, as the filling of later demands cannot be guaranteed.

The thick paper edition of the CHRISTMAS CATALOGUE will be supplied as follows:

SINGLE COPIES (postpaid),	40 CTS.		PER 100 COPIES (with imprint),	$20 00
------------------------------------	---------	--	---	---------

The thin paper edition, with dealers' imprints, will be supplied at the following rates:

PER 100 COPIES,	$10 00		PER 500 COPIES,	$38 00
" 250 "	20 00		" 1000 "	75 00

Orders should be sent in at once, and in order to avoid delay, it is absolutely necessary that copy for imprint, together with full directions for forwarding, should accompany the remittance. All packages sent by express unpaid, unless other shipping directions are given.

Hours with Art and Artists.

An imperial quarto volume, containing 12 engravings on steel and 89 illustrations on wood (many of them large, full-page), printed on heavy cream-tinted paper. A large and sumptuous volume. The artists represented in this work include a large number of the distinguished painters of the present time. The descriptive text is by G. W. SHELDON, author of "American Painters." Imperial quarto, cloth, extra gilt, $7.50.

II.

Sir Roger de Coverley.

(Reimprinted from "The Spectator.") By JOSEPH ADDISON. With 125 woodcuts, and a steel Etching as Frontispiece. Square 12mo, ornamented cloth, $2.25.

Addison's masterpiece is here presented in a handsome volume, copiously illustrated and attractively bound.

III.

THE PARCHMENT SERIES.

Eighteenth Century Essays.

Selected and annotated by AUSTIN DOBSON. With frontispiece. 16mo, parchment antique, uncut, gilt top, $1.25.

"Our British essayists is a tempting and fruitful theme. There is no pleasanter reading in idle hours than the Queen Anne essay, which is sometimes a delicious piece of humor, sometimes a vivid description of by-gone customs and manners—too short ever to be wearisome, full of freshness and vivacity."—London Spectator.

IV.

A WIDE-AWAKE BOOKSELLER

who carries a large miscellaneous stock says our "line of BIBLES is the most complete ever offered to the Trade." He adds: "They are justly accorded the preference for tasteful and durable bindings, special illustrated features, and general excellence." We don't know; perhaps he don't; but he ought to know.—The catalogue comprises ENGLISH, GERMAN, and SPANISH Editions—Protestant and Catholic versions. These are Quarto Bibles.

A very popular book is our TEACHER'S BIBLE, containing much invaluable matter not found in the celebrated London and Bagster Editions. Some folks think they ought to get all these Bibles from England. We don't. American manufactures are good enough for us. Styles and sizes are various and numerous—to suit any trade. Each contains the ILLUSTRATED BIBLE DICTIONARY, NOTES, REFERENCES, MAPS, and BLACKWOOD'S AIDS.

Our BOOKS FOR THE SCHOOLS fill the three prime desiderata of Text-Books, —freshness, thoroughness, and exhaustiveness. They are modern in their method and style; they tell all about the subject they treat; and they tell it pleasantly and well. Teachers want these books as soon as they see them. Make a note of Baldwin's ENGLISH LITERATURE, Harrison's FRENCH SYNTAX, Knoflach's GERMAN MANUAL, Reilly's ARTIST AND HIS MISSION, Fenno's ELOCUTION, etc.

To BIOGRAPHY we have devoted much time and money, and our Catalogue contains popular lives of Statesmen, Patriots, Explorers, Philanthropists, and other prominent men of the world. Every live bookseller wants these books. Special orders solicited.

In HISTORY, TRAVEL, and ADVENTURE our line includes some of the most popular works extant, and their popularity seems to be on the increase.

Our POETICAL and RELIGIOUS works are such as are always desirable for the fireside and parlor table.

Popular Fiction, Novels, Humor, Medicine, Agriculture, Practical and Miscellaneous Works in great variety, adapted to any trade.

OUR LINE OF 12 MOS WILL BE FOUND TO PRESENT SOME OF THE FINEST SPECIMENS OF MODERN ATTRACTIVE BINDING.

We hold ourselves in readiness to fill all orders for the busy season with promptness. Send for Catalogue.

L. PRANG & CO.'S

SEASON 1882-1883.

Christmas and New Year Cards.

The previous success of our Cards, it is confidently expected, will be fully sustained, if not increased, this season, an expectation which is already verified by the large advance orders received, justifying our increased efforts to bring out a line superior to all our previous productions. Our line will again comprise Double and Fringed Cards, as well as Heavy Mounts. All the Fringed Cards will be provided with protectors, and envelopes will be furnished for all cards costing $1.80 and upward. The names of the artists who have contributed designs are a guarantee of the excellence of our Cards. We will name only the following: Miss L. B. Humphrey, Mrs. O. E. Whitney, Miss L. B. Comins, Alfred Fredericks, Walter Satterlee, Theo. Liebler, Miss F. Bridges, Miss Rosina Emmet, Thomas Moran, Alexander Sandier, R. G. Birch, Geo. J. Barnes, Miss Dora Wheeler, Miss Florence Taber, Frederick Dielman, Harry Beard, F. Schuyler Mathews, H. P. Kendall.

The literary matter in connection with our designs has been carefully attended to, among others, by Mrs. Celia Thaxter and Mrs. Emily Shaw Forman.

BOOKS FOR THE LIBRARY.

General Literature and Works of Reference.

Prices revised for the season 1882-83.

The above is the title of the new Supplement to the "BOOKS OF ALL TIME," referred to in an editorial of this issue. The complete pamphlet (114 pages, 32mo) will form one of the most profitable "campaign documents" during the busy season. Although the Supplement alone is an increase of thirty-six compact nonpareil pages, presenting an independent list of nearly one thousand works and editions, the combination of both lists will be supplied at the same rates which originally were charged for "Books of All Time" alone.

As, on account of the pressure of our holiday issues, it will scarcely be possible to print new editions until after Christmas, booksellers will do well to send in their orders before the present supply is exhausted.

A Novel, by HELEN CAMPBELL.

Beautifully illustrated, cloth, green and silver, $1.
"Nothing more tasteful in outward guise or interesting in character of contents has been issued by any publishing house this season. The book is emphatically a strong one; the characters stand well out from the background of the story, and will be remembered by the reader almost as living persons. The illustrations by Howard Pyle are exceptionally good."—Boston Transcript.

"If the succeeding volumes of 'Our Continent Library' be equal to this, it will be an excellent series."—Boston Budget.

THE HOUSE THAT JILL BUILT

(After Jack's had Proved a Failure). A Book on Home Architecture. With illustrations (exterior and interior views, floor-plans, diagrams, etc.), by the author, E. C. Gardner. MRS. DORR'S LAST PRODUCTION.
"SANTA CLAUS SOUVENIR."

Not a Book, but a Novelty for the Holidays.

SOMETHING NEW, RICH, NEAT, AND NOVEL. EACH ONE IN WHITE ENVELOPE. TWENTY-FIVE IN A BOX.

THE reputation of the Author is sufficient to guarantee a very large sale, and Mrs. Dorr has received contributions for the Souvenir from well-known writers, among which are Paul H. Hayne, Constantina E. Brooks, E. C. Stedman, J. J. Platt, R. H. Stoddard, Henry R. Dorr, Mrs. Mary E. Bradley, and others. The above cut gives the shape (but not the size) of the front cover. Size closed, 9 1/4 x 5 1/4 inches. Lithographed in Nine Bright Colors and Embossed, so that cut gives but very faint idea of the beauty of this salable novelty. The inside 12 pages printed in two colors on tinted paper, and all cut out the shape of Santa Claus. Price of this Gem only 50 cents. Silk-looped Fringed, with protector, 90 cents, list. Sample Copy and Terms mailed any DEALER on receipt of price.

We solicit correspondence with dealers who wish to handle the Souvenir in their section. It is a novelty that every Stationer, Bookseller, Fancy Goods, and Newsdealer can sell. We can deliver large quantities in New York City. It will sell in every State in the Union for the beauty of the work, reputation of the author, and popular price. LIBERAL DISCOUNT TO DEALERS.
